Shooting zombies games y8

Zombies seem to invade our Windows Phones these days. On the last count, there were about fifteen zombie themed games on the market. One of the more anticipated zombie themed games for Windows Phone 7 must be Zombies!!!. A joint effort between Microsoft Game Studios, Babaroga, and Twilight Creations, Zombies!!! brings your favorite board game to the small screen windows phone. Graphically well presented, Zombies!!! represents the original board game very well. The premise of the game is simple. Wipe out 25 zombies or get on a helipad to escape from the city. Along the way you will compete with other players who will do what they can to slow down by playing action cards or placing zombies in their way. As I deal with the Living Dead, this is how the game plays out. You and up to four other zombie hunters are abandoned in a city infested with the living dead. You must work your way to a helipad to escape or wipe out twenty-five zombies to win. You have four game set-ups or rules sets. Standard: The game is based on the official rules of Zombies!!!. Quick game: Follows official rules, but has a Helipad map in the bottom half of the package. Generated City: The game starts with an already generated city map. Survival Horror: Vs city full of zombies. No opponents and instead of 25 kills to win, it will take 105. Zombie!!! Is a multi-player game that you can stand up against a computer controlled player or let your friends make a turn on the extermination of zombies. To change the type of player, color, or remove the player just click on the device symbol in addition to each player's game piece. By default, you play against two cpu-controlled opponents. At the beginning of the game, each player has three hearts and two bullets (you can earn more as the game progresses). Hearts represent your life and bullets can be used to help defeat zombies (more on that in a bit). You will also receive three action cards that can give you bonuses or be used against other players to slow them down. The player moves or stretches into several steps. You will start playing only with the city center that appears on the map. At the beginning of each turn, you can add a piece to the map. Once in place, you add zombies and in some situations, you get to add bonus items (hearts and bullets). Once you get to the map of the situation, it's time to roll the dice to see how far you can move. You can move freely along the road or head to buildings to find bonus items. You land in the square with zombies and you have to fight them. To fight zombies you will see a split screen with the player facing the zombies. The fight is carried out with a roll of the dice. Roll four or bigger and you win. Roll less than four and you'll either need to use bullets to raise your roll above four (e.g. roll 3 plus one bullet equals four) or spend your heart roll again. Once you've completed your moves and battles, you'll get to throw more dice to see how many zombies you can You can use it to move zombies out of the way or move them to defend your opponents progress. In different places during the turn, you can use action cards. Some action cards give you bonuses (e.g. add one point to each roll of the dice during a fight) or punish your opponent (e.g. no movement in one turn). Once you're done with your series, the other players get it again. For now, your opponents are controlled by your phone's processor. Babaroga has done a really good job programming computer players to be competitive. They're ruthless on the border not only against you, but against each other. It helps keep the game interesting and winning is by no means a cake walk. Eventually, the helipad piece of the map drops and it becomes a foot race to reach 25 kills, or make it a helipad and escape. Zombie gaming experience!!! is graphically well done and competitive enough to keep things from going stale. If you are a fan of box games, Windows Phone 7 game is a must have. From the player jumping from square to square, to animation of battle scenes, Zombies!!! it was just as fun to watch as it was playing. Initially, the length of each turn took some getting used to, but you can develop a flow to make the game smoother. There are automated options for some aspects (e.g. relocating zombies) to help you speed things up a bit, but in doing so you will lose some of the strategiers that the game offers. There were no glitches, errors or crashes that occurred while playing zombies and loading times were fast and smooth. As already mentioned, the graphics are well done and the sound effects just as nice. Another nice feature is the ability to save games in progress. Zombie!!! is not an action game, but rather a board game and takes a while to take place. The ability to save an ongoing game allows you to play several turns at once. However, don't be surprised if you look up and realize that you've played Zombies!!! for an hour. The game has a sneaky, addictive quality to it. Xbox Live Zombie Services!!! is an Xbox Live game that has different achievements that can be obtained and streamed on your Xbox Live account. There is currently no cooperative feature that allows you to join xbox live friends. You can have others play the game from your Windows Phone (just pass the phone around with each turn) and hopefully future zombies development!!! allows multiple players to play from their own Windows Phone. It's our understanding that Xbox Live Arcade version of Zombies!!! is in the works and we should see more Xbox Live interactions between Zombies!!! windows phone and zombies!!! on your Xbox console. Overall impression In short, Zombies!!! is a fantastic game. It ran smoothly, it looked good and the game wasn't boring. The computer competes in an aggressive way to prevent the game from getting too easy. If you're looking for a serious challenge, Survival Horror will throw everything at you except the kitchen sink. Teh the pace may be a little slow at first. However, once you get used to the game, it picks up speed. There's a lot involved with every step from building a map of the city to fighting zombies. It has chess as an atmosphere occasionally using action cards and re-positioning zombies during your turn. Strategy is definitely part of Zombies!!! As mentioned earlier, if you are a fan of the board game Zombies!!! this is a must have app for your Windows Phone. Even though you've never seen a board game, Zombies!!! worth a try. There is a trial available and the full game will run you $4.99. You can find Zombies!!! here on Marketplace. The dead are the problem. Whether they are walking or evil varieties, their penchant for eating meat is proving to be a problem for those who prefer to keep their organs intact. This is the basis for Zombies!!!, a new game of post-apocalyptic survival from Babaroga. It is based on the popular board game from Twilight Creations, in which players compete to escape from a city infested with brain biters. With event cards, you can help or prevent your teammates. In this version of Windows 8, up to four players are competing to be the first to reach the heliport, where there is one empty seat on the last flight from zombietown (population: lots and everyone is hungry for brains). Alternatively, you can win by double tapping on 25 zombies. In search of a heliport, you can explore places like hardware stores and houses to find useful things like chainsaws or bullets, but there are also zombies waiting for you. You can also use event cards to slow down other players (for example, a claustrophobia card that forces them to run out of buildings) or speed up their own journey (for example, an alternative food source card where zombies find something else to eat and don't bother you). At every step, you can also move some zombies so you can point them in the direction of tasty snacks like another player. As you progress through the map, it becomes a tactical game: Are you using your cards to speed yourself or block other users? Does it make sense to move zombies out of the way or point them at their competitors? There's also a survival mode that throws you into zombieville to see how long you can last. The fight is based on the role of the dice, modified cards in the game. The graphics are very cartoony, which makes gun and chainsaw-related violence a little more abstract than in most zombie TV shows. The game ran smoothly on a low-end tablet that I tried it on, so it should run well on most systems and sound and graphics have added well to the atmosphere. Because it's based on a card game, Zombies!!! uses a turn-by-turn approach and prioritizes strategy. The fight is based on the roll of the dice and the cards in the game, not on the speed of your reactions. This means that those looking for a gore-filled twitch fest will be disappointed, but those who like to think before they tap will appreciate it competitive angle of play. Damn it, dead again. Fortunately, one just puts you back at the starting point with a reduced score. Zombie!!! is a fun (if blood-soaked) game, and the computer version retains much of the magic of the card game, while increasing it with cartoonish sound effects and visuals. The game carries a teen rating, and it's appropriate: Although violence is solely for comic effect, younger children may find some scenes of death a little disturbing. But, as the old saying goes, the family that topped together stays together and the Zombies!!! could be a cute, creepy addition to the game night. Note: The Download button takes you to the Windows 8 store, where you can download the latest version of the software. It's fun enough to distract you from chewing your brain. Fun with the undead Different scenarios for a short or longer game Can be quite slow-paced Enough gore to upset younger players
